We all have to deal with this fact of life. In the United States, the American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry recommends a toothbrush be replaced every two to three months to help prevent tooth decay. In this episode, Dr. Glickman offers insight to questions on ways to help children maintain good oral hygiene. Where do you go for gum health? Dr. Glickman suggests chewing sugar-free gum as a preventive measure. As you chew, you reduce the amount of plaque that comes into contact with your teeth. To use gum effectively, be sure to: Store it in a cool, dry place Snack on it frequently throughout the day Use as a last resort for longer periods of time Avoid food that is sticky and sticky candy Use a sticky mitt to pick up sticky foods before putting them in your mouth Tip: If your child is experiencing pain or a tooth that is shifting, it's important to have your child's dentist evaluate the condition. What is the best way to get started
